GENERAL ANALYSIS OF AN AURA/CHAKRA PHOTO

Just taking a nice aura photo is not enough. The interpretation of the aura photo is the most important part. To read an aura photo you have to consider its many different parts:

- The shape of the aura/charkas
- The colors of the aura/charkas
- Their energy positions
- Interpretations of bio-data graphs

The aura is created by our body's vibrations, which the aura camera shows as colors. In other words, the human body's vibrations are visible, as colors. You can also combine the meaning of the aura colors with that of the chakra colors, which are the energy centers in the body. If your vibrations are of a certain color, it means your attention is mainly centered in a particular body area, e.g. if you vibrate in yellow you are sensitive in the stomach area and your 3rd chakra is open. You might also be involved in yellow themes like trying to be independent.

WHAT ARE SOME OF THE USES OF AN AURA/CHAKRA PHOTO?

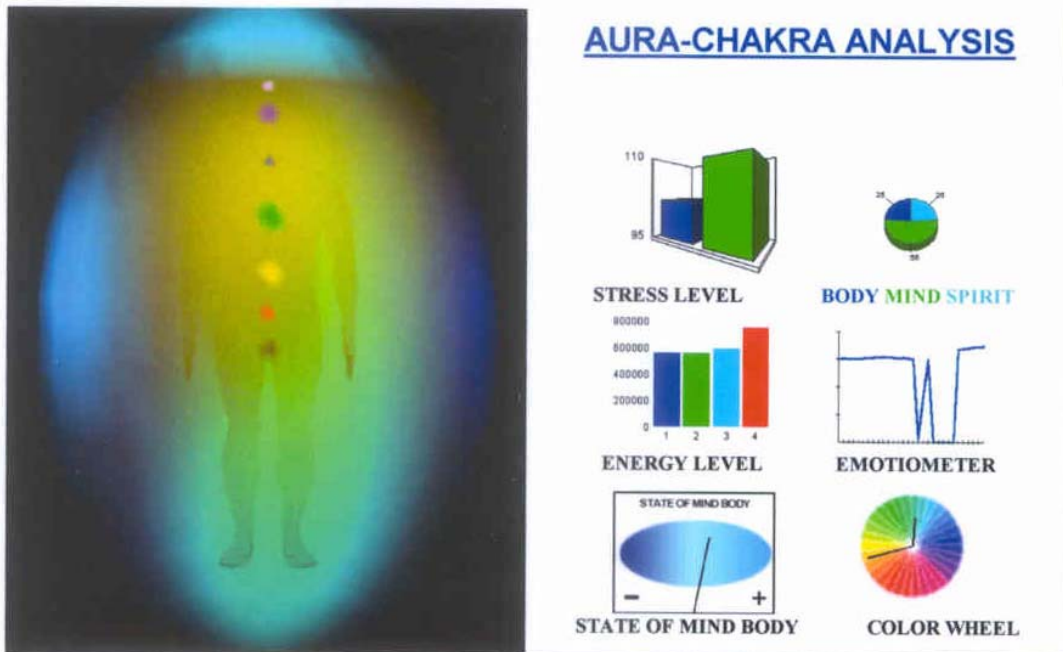

- To be aware of the balance between the mental, physical, emotional and spiritual energies
- To know how to harmonize the yin/yang energies to stay healthy
- To know some of your gifts and talents

Aura Locations and Chakra Shapes

LEFT SIDE (FEMALE-YIN)

The color on the left side is normally the vibration coming into the being. It is what one feels inside but might not have expressed.

ABOVE HEAD (THOUGHTS-BELIEFS)

The color over the head is what you experience right now. It reflects what one thinks or believes at that moment, and shows the current state of mind.

RIGHT SIDE (MALE-YANG)

The color on the right side is traditionally the energy being expressed, as well as the qualities most likely seen or felt by others. It is what you are putting out to the world.

CENTER (BASE AURA COLOR)

The most dominant aura color is seen in the center of your body. This base aura color helps determine one's personality type and does not change as fast as the outside colors.

DARK, MUDDY OR MULTIPLE AURA COLORS

One might be stressed, tired or experiencing emotional problems; or one may be in a period of tremendous growth and change reflected by several aura colors.

CHAKRAS

The shape, size and intensity of the color of each chakra reflects various physical, emotional, mental and spiritual states within the aura.

ROUND CIRCULAR CHAKRAS SHOW A BALANCED ENERGY SYSTEM

Non-circular, blurred chakras show an imbalance in one's energy centers. Also look at the color and brightness of each chakra for a more detailed analysis.

Bio-Data Graphs

BIO DATA ANALYSIS

The bio-data graphs and meters titled "Aura/Chakras Measurements" reflect important parts of the energetic body system. The color wheel gives an overview of the complete aura color range. This graph also indicates the yin/yang balance. The short needle reflects the yin-female-left qualities, the long needle the yang-male-right qualities of the energy system.

STRESS/RELAXATION GRAPH

The relaxation graph shows the physical relaxation or stress level, and is mainly based on body temperature. The left blue bar is used as a baseline (environment.) The green bar and left top value show the personal relaxation level.

ENERGY LEVEL GRAPH

The energy level graph shows the different energy channels that are measured, and is based on the electro-dermal activity.

MIND-BODY-SPIRIT GRAPH

This mind-body-spirit graph gives an overview of how the energies are distributed between body, mind and spirit.

EMOTIOMETER

The emotiometer shows realtime emotional reactions, true thoughts and inner feelings.

MIND-BODY GRAPH

The state of mind-body graph displays the overall mind/body condition, and is based on the body temperature.
